

ESPE 2010 - Working Plan for CME Credits / Accreditation

ESPE is an annual meeting with a new scientific programme for each individual meeting and therefore ESPE apply for accreditation for each meeting as the accreditation is based on the scientific programme. The application process for CME is done by the meeting (responsible for the scientific programme) and thus not the Society itself. ESPE is using an agent specialised within this area, Serono Symposia International Foundation (SSIF). SSIF are responsible for applying in time and making sure that all required documents are collected. SSIF will be onsite and hand out certificates with the CME credits directly to the delegates. The delegates who get the certificate onsite will present it to their national CME system authority to have them recognized in their own country. This procedure might be different from country to country but the doctors are informed about their own national procedure. In addition, SSIF produce / collect an evaluation form according to UEMS/EACCME requirements and produce a report for UEMS/EACCME and ESPE.

The following material is required in order for the ESPE Meeting to offer CME Credits / Accreditation
